The Smart solution for your business

In today's ultra competitive marketplace, accepting checks isn't a convenience, it's a necessity. While your customers expect you to accept checks, mistakes do happen. Letting them go unchecked can mean the difference between a profitable organization or a business with a time bomb that's waiting to go off. That's why a check recovery system like Secure Check is crucial to maximize use of your company's funds and continually manage and control return items.

Your Business Demands

Effective Cost Management

Even one bad check per quarter is costly. Studies show that a bad check costs your business between $37 and $95 in fees and lost employee productivity (if you have a professional practice the average is $ 60.05 per bad check), and that's whether the check is for $5 or $500 and *whether you collect it or not*. This is a bottom line loss—money right out of your profit. Only one bad check per quarter could COST YOU up to $380 per year. To recoup this loss could mean you would need up to $2,000 in new business, depending on your profit margin, just to break even. Given these figures, there is no such thing as a small bad check problem!
